PPRC NEWS BRIEF MONDAY 29th MAY 2023

The Chairman of the Political Parties Regulations Commission (PPRC), Mr. Abdulai Masiyambay Bangurah Esq. says he expects heightened political tolerance, free and unhindered access of political parties to all communities, and a quiet and peaceful campaign, which is the precursor to a free fair transparent and credible election.

Speaking at the end of the Commission's Unhindered Access engagements with Paramount Chiefs across the country, the Chairman said he also expects mutual respect between our Politicians and the electorates and Traditional Authorities.

Reacting to the issue of the commitment made by Paramount Chiefs, Mr. Bangurah said he expects constant communication and engagement on emerging issues, relative to the campaign trail and the role of our traditional leaders.

He admonished political parties and their supporters and Independent Candidates to be respectful to Paramount Chiefs and inform them of their campaign activities in their Chiefdoms. Political Parties he says must be peaceful and civil in the conduct of their campaign.

Speaking on the ongoing campaigns, the Chairman said campaigns have been relatively substantially peaceful.

‘There is room for improvement, but we will continue to guide the process, with an intention to curb the challenges’ he concluded.
